

Emerging Markets Great Consumer Fund

2Q2018 Commentary

MIRAE ASSET
Global Investments

A: MECGX C: MCCGX I: MICGX

Sector Holdings (AS OF JUNE 30, 2018*)

*These will change and should not be considered recommendations.

Performance (AS OF JUNE 30, 2018)

	EMERGING MARKETS GREAT CONSUMER CLASS I (%)	MSCI EMERGING MARKETS NR INDEX (%)
2Q2018	-5.73	-7.83
1 Year	17.15	7.87
3 Year (annualized)	6.47	6.08
5 Year (annualized)	5.34	5.01
7 Year (annualized)	4.19	1.60
Since Inception [†] (annualized)	5.73	2.60

[†]9/24/10

Net total return indices reinvest dividends after the deduction of withholding taxes.

The Fund's investment manager, Mirae Asset Global Investments (USA) LLC ("Mirae Asset USA"), has contractually agreed to forego its management fee and, if necessary, to reimburse the Fund so that total operating expenses (excluding interest expense, taxes, brokerage commissions and certain other Fund expenses) of the Fund do not exceed 1.25% (for Class I Shares) of average daily net assets through August 31, 2018. Total annual fund operating expenses for Class I shares: 1.73%. Each share class may have to repay Mirae Asset USA some of these amounts foregone or reimbursed within three years if total operating expenses fall below the expense cap described above. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The performance data quoted represent past performance and current returns may be lower or higher. Share prices and investment returns fluctuate and an investor's shares may be worth more or less than original cost upon redemption. For periods less than one year, performance is cumulative. For performance data current to the most recent month-end please call 1-888-335-3417.

Market Review

After a robust 2017, emerging market (EM) equities, as represented by the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, rose in the first quarter of 2018 but corrected in the second quarter. EM equities declined 7.86% in the second quarter, underperforming global stocks as the MSCI World Index grew 1.93%. A combination of factors drove the correction. We saw a challenging external scenario marked by a stronger US dollar and higher US treasury yields. The market also witnessed a number of idiosyncratic factors in EM, including volatile US trade rhetoric with China, increased sanctions in Russia, a trucker's strike in Brazil, an opaque political situation in Turkey, and elections in Mexico.

Emerging Asia ended the quarter with a loss of 5.75%. The US-China trade dispute continued to dominate headlines. The US announced it will implement tariffs on $34 billion worth of Chinese products effective July 6, with a further $16 billion currently under review. The People's Bank of China reduced the reserve requirement ratio (RRR) for some banks by 50 basis points, effective July 5. We believe this move, which will add about 700 billion yuan ($108 billion) in liquidity, was made to protect the Chinese economy against downside risks in case the trade war intensifies. On a positive note, China's domestic demand remains robust and consumer confidence is at a multi-year high. In India, data suggests that the economic recovery remains on track. Inflation has been rising and non-food CPI spiked to a 46-month high in May. Due to higher inflation numbers and better-than-expected growth, the Reserve Bank of India hiked rates by 25 basis points to 6.25%, its first increase since 2014. The central bank maintains a neutral monetary policy stance, which indicates that further action will depend on subsequent data, particularly core inflation.

In the second quarter, both the Latin American and the Eastern Europe, Middle East and Africa (EEMEA) regions corrected sharply. Brazil and Turkey were the worst performing countries, with Brazil falling 26.37% and Turkey dropping 25.69% in USD terms. Brazil suffered as the trucker's strike led not only to an economic slowdown, but also to the return of fuel subsidies, leading investors to question the government's ability to impose necessary fiscal reform. Brazil is also in a presidential election year and the market reacted to election polls which showed market-friendly candidates appearing to lose ground. Turkey was impacted by a growing current account deficit in the face of higher oil prices and tepid tourism numbers. More importantly, President Erdogan came out victorious in the most recent election and moved forward with his planned consolidation of power and unorthodox rhetoric about the central bank. On the positive side, Colombia was up 6.78% in the second quarter, driven by higher oil prices and a market-friendly outcome to its presidential election.

Fund Review

Mirae Asset's Emerging Markets Great Consumer Fund (MICGX) outperformed its benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, during the quarter ending June 30, 2018. The Fund declined 5.73% whereas the benchmark posted a loss of 7.83%.

Key Contributors to Performance

■ On a sector basis, Industrials contributed the most to the Fund's relative performance due to stock selection. Stock selection and allocation effects in Consumer Staples also had a positive impact.

■ With regards to geography, China and India were the top contributors to relative performance due to both stock selection and allocation effects. However, it is instructive to keep in mind that the portfolio's country weightings are a function of bottom-up stock selection rather than targeted allocations to particular countries.

■ On the stock level, the top contributors to the Fund's relative performance during the quarter were Britannia Industries, Shanghai International Airport and HUYA.

Key Detractors from Performance

■ On a sector basis, Consumer Discretionary was the largest detractor from relative performance mainly due to stock selection. An underweight in Energy also detracted from relative performance.

■ Relating to geography, Taiwan and Russia detracted the most from performance due to both stock selection and allocation effects.

■ On the stock level, the biggest detractors were Banco do Brasil, Raia Drogasil and Vipshop Holdings.

Outlook

We continue to have a positive long term outlook for EM equities on the back of a global synchronized recovery, a strong structural growth story, and an attractive technical opportunity. EM equities look attractive relative to developed counterparts based on a combination of discounted valuations, higher growth rates, and attractive positioning. EM corporate earnings have also been expanding, after hitting a trough in 2016. Other factors underpinning the positive outlook for emerging markets include improved current account balances, progress on political and economic reform, and declining inflation in select economies.

A trade war between the US and China would have significant and undesirable effects globally. In our view, the tariffs on $50 billion worth of Chinese goods should have a limited impact on China's GDP; however, if further tariffs are implemented (President Trump has said he may seek tariffs totaling $500 billion or more), it would likely create an overhang for markets. We have continued to take opportunities to shift our portfolio exposure to strong domestic demand plays where we believe the businesses will be more resilient should trade tensions escalate further. In India, we continue to see encouraging trends. Domestic consumption expenditure remains robust and we are starting to see incipient signs of a revival in investment activity.

In Brazil, we remain optimistic that the country will remain on a path toward long-term structural changes centered on pension reform. We also maintain a constructive outlook for Russia as we expect the rate cutting cycle to continue in 2018, supporting growth and the macroeconomic recovery.

While we believe that select macro concerns have abated and the current environment provides support for EM equities, we continue to focus on identifying high-quality companies which are best placed to benefit from sustained, secular growth in spending by an expanding emerging markets consumer base. Our investment strategy for the Emerging Markets Great Consumer Fund utilizes a bottom-up, fundamental approach to invest in companies benefiting from such enduring trends, and which possess sustainable competitive advantages including superior management, product differentiation, a dominant competitive position, pricing power, and balance sheet strength. We believe that structural growth in the Great Consumer strategy remains intact and promising. In the second quarter of this year, the Fund remained meaningfully overweight the Consumer Discretionary, Consumer Staples, and Health Care sectors.

All index returns are sourced from MSCI and are gross total returns unless otherwise noted.

Basis Point (bp) is a unit that is equal to 1/100th of 1% and is used to denote the change in the value or rate of a financial instrument.

Consumer Price Index (CPI) measures changes in the price level of a market basket of consumer goods and services purchased by households.

Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is the monetary value of all the finished goods and services produced within a country's borders in a specific time period.

MSCI Emerging Markets Index captures large and mid cap representation across 24 Emerging Market countries. Investing in an index is not possible.

The MSCI World Index captures large and mid cap representation across 24 Developed Markets countries.

Reserve Requirement Ratio (RRR) is the amount of funds that a depository institution must hold in reserve against specified deposit liabilities.

Important information:

An investor should consider an investment in the Funds as a long-term investment. The Funds' returns will fluctuate over long and short periods. The Funds cannot guarantee that they will achieve their investment objective. As with all investments, there are certain risks of investing in the Funds, and you could lose money on an investment in the Funds. Certain risks related to an investment in the Funds are summarized below:

- Equity securities (stocks) are more volatile and carry more risk than other forms of investments, including investments in high-grade fixed income securities. The net asset value per share of this Fund will fluctuate as the value of the securities in the portfolio changes
- Emerging market investing may be subject to additional legal, economic, political, liquidity, and currency risks not associated with more developed countries
- Geographic concentration risk: A small number of companies and industries may represent a large portion of the market in a particular country or region, and these companies and industries can be sensitive to adverse social, political, economic or regulatory developments in that country or region

An investor should consider the Fund's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. This and other important information about the investment company can be found in the Fund's prospectus and summary prospectus. To obtain a prospectus or summary prospectus, please contact your financial advisor or please call 1-888-335-3417. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.

Mirae Asset Discovery Funds are distributed by Funds Distributor, LLC.

Copyright © 2018 by Mirae Asset Global Investments (USA) LLC. All rights reserved.